

Speak Tea-sy

Language of the Leaf
Monday, May 05, 2008

While we pride ourselves on being tastemakers, we admit it wasn't always this way (grunge, anyone?).

Seeing us through our faux pas periods – and steering us right – was one woman: Our mom.

Which is why this year for Mother's Day we've decided the best present we could give was something that shows off our good taste – and tastes good.

With Language of the Leaf's Mother's Day Special ($31 our thank you (for saving our apartment from milk crates) is simple. For the price of a Tea for One Set, which includes a glass mug, infuser and lid, we can add in two yummy pairs of premium loose leaf tea at no extra charge. For the more mellow moms, try the Herbal and Decaf duos (with Peppermint and Anise or Decaf English Breakfast and Peach teas), and for the caffeine connoisseur, choose from buzz-worthy Green, Rooibos and Black blends.

With free shipping for orders over $75, we're stocking our own cupboards with cookie-esque Biscotti Ceylon ($11 for 100g), refreshing Rooibos Aztec Mint ($10 for 100g) and antioxidant rich White Peony ($16 for 100g).

Mom would be so proud.

Language of the Leaf

www.languageoftheleaf.com

Available for purchase online.

